

1

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method for providing a seamless transition between video play-back modes includes decoding a current video picture, determining a time value corresponding to the current video picture, and storing the time value in memory. Systems and other 5 methods for providing a seamless transition between video play-back modes are also disclosed.